DETAILED ACTION

Claims 2, 4, 6, 8 and 9 have been amended. Claims 10, 11 and 13 have been canceled. Claims 1-9, 12, 14 and 15 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6, and 8 drawn to a method for the in vitro identification of tumor cells in a tumor sample , and a method for the in vitro evaluation of the effectiveness of an antitumor treatment, both methods comprising measuring the level of expression of all or a part of the gene encoding semaphorin-3A; classified in class 435, subclass 6, and 7.1.
- II. Claims 12 and 15, drawn to a method for identifying any substance similar to Semaphorin-3A, comprising performing an invasion assay in the presence of VEGF165, wherein said substance inhibits invasion in the presence of VEGF165, and pharmaceutical compositions for inhibiting the invasiveness of epithelial tumor cells comprising a substance similar to Semaphorin 3A, classified in class 435, subclass 4, class 424, subclass 9.2 and class 514, subclasses 1 and 2. Please note that “a substance similar to Semaphorin 3A” can include protein variants of Semaphorin 3A as well as mimetic compounds which are not proteins or peptides.
- III. Claims 7 and 14, drawn to a kit comprising primers which hybridize specifically to the polynucleotides derived from all or part of the gene encoding Semaphorin-3A, a pharmaceutical composition comprising all or part of the gene encoding Semaphorin 3A, and a pharmaceutical composition comprising all or part of Semaphorin 3A, classified in class 536, subclasses 24.33, class 514, subclasses 21 and 44.
- IV. Claim 9, drawn to a kit comprising antibodies which specifically bind to a protein derived from all or part of the gene encoding Semaphorin 3A, classified in class 530, subclass 387.1

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the primers and polynucleotides of Group III can be used in a method of monitoring the expression of Semaphorin 3A during embryonic development.

Inventions I and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the antibodies of Group IV can be used in a method of monitoring the expression of Semaphorin 3A during embryonic development, or in a method of raising an anti-idiotypic antibody.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
